Engineer, HUD Reps Explain Some Details

About 100 property owners, lessees and others Tuesday night heard a progress report on Cameron's planning for a maximum $658,000 downtown renewal, $158,000 in local funds and credits.

Four professionals from Housing & Urban Development, Small Business Administration and Bernard Johnson, Inc., project engineers, answered questions from the audience.

They were: Darwin Stewart, relocation expert, HUD; Louis Jeffrey, HUD, Fort Worth; Eugene Plack, loan officer, Small Business Administration; and James Green, Cameron project engineer, Bernard Johnson, Inc.

A. W. McCullin, chairman of the Cameron Urban Renewal board of seven members, welcomed the group at First Methodist Fellowship Hall, and introduced Monroe Fuchs, Urban board vice chairman. Fuchs introduced both Jeffrey and Stewart.

Stewart explained relocation possibilities for businesses affected in any downtown program.

He said the federal government finances relocation 100 percent. Three types of payment are made:

ONE — Moving expenses are paid entirely, including a property loss payment. Combined limit is $3,000.

TWO — A displacement payment is available: If a business nets over $10,000 a year, it is not eligible. If it nets less than $500 a year, it is no measurable loss. Limits are the $500 net with gross to a maximum of $10,000 net from gross income.

THREE — Settlement costs are available to property owners. This is reimbursement of any expense customarily the responsibility in transferring property, including updating abstracts, mortgage payment penalty among other items.

Like the other speakers, who were somewhat vague on questions to specific examples, Stewart emphasized a city undertaking and urban renewal program "is required to have recourse for every business displaced and to make these three types of payments."

McCullin recounted the four-year history of the proposed 24-block area, bounded by US 77 - SH 36 on the north, North Fannin on the East, Tyson Street on the south and Crockett on the west.

The City Council appointed a City Planning Commission which recommended the program under planning survey now by the Urban Renewal Board.

"Let us remember," McCullin said, "it is your money working in 'it is your money working in. See 100 Hear Page 2"

Pick-Up Set For Clean-Up Week

A schedule has been developed for city trucks to be used during community cleanup week, June 17 through June 21. The cleanup campaign for Cameron is being sponsored by the Cameron Chamber of Commerce Civic Improvement Committee with the cooperation of the City of Cameron.

J. B. Earle said that during these five days every effort would be made to have enough trucks running the routes to take care of the debris. "We will remove all kinds of debris," Earle said.

Price Forecast Up For Cen-Tex Cotton

A forecast of 32 to 35 cents payment for Central Texas cotton was made at the Blackland Cotton & Grain Producers Assn. cotton committee meeting Tuesday.

The forecast was made on a New York Cotton Exchange "short staple" cotton contract expected July 15. The Blackland committee report said the contract should mean "a year-round demand for our Blackland cotton at much better prices since buyers will be able to hedge purchases for the first time in years."

"Everything points to better than 20 cent cotton this fall," the report continued, "which with the support payment will bring the producer a total of 32 cents to 35 cents in Central Texas."

"Citizens will only have to pick it up at the edge of their property, so that the city employees will not have to enter personal property to remove anything people want hauled away. We would appreciate all trash being put into containers, if possible or stacked so that it will not take a great deal of time to be removed."

He also said that debris need not be limited to leaves, limbs, etc. "We want it all—whatever will help to clean up our city and make this campaign the success it should be—our trucks will take care of it."

Another major phase of the program is to encourage property owners to mow vacant lots. Any one needing mowing services can call City Hall to list their name and address, or for additional information.

Truck schedule for cleanup week will be:

Monday, June 17 - City limits to the north, City limits to the east, Washington Avenue to the west, Santa Fe Railway to the south.

MAGNA-CRAFT, CAM-TEX HIRING...

Businesses Updating

Applicants were registering for employment at Cameron's Magna-Craft, Inc., Wednesday while improvements were underway on the former warehouse and at least half dozen other Cameron businesses or institutions.

Prospective workers were filling out forms at the furniture factory while management awaited delivery of additional machinery.

Meanwhile, training programs at Cam-Tex, Inc., affiliate of Sunny Isle Manufacturing, Inc. of Dallas, had increased employment over 40 at the Cameron location.

Preliminary consideration is being given requirements for a new building for Cam-Tex, Inc. according to N. L. Caperton, president of Cameron Industrial Foundation, Inc.

He told Chamber directors Monday background efforts toward construction of a building for the 200-plus Cameron employee operation by January 1, 1969, were underway.

Other Cameron businesses responded to this growth potential this week.

Painters were completing interior work on a general remodeling of Safeway, Inc., here which included construction of a loading dock, installation of additional equipment and interior painting.

Texas Power & Light was constructing a parking building and equipment storage facility behind its Cameron offices for a new overhead utility truck.

Buildings on future sites to be used by First National Bank have been removed and the lots leveled. Four buildings on West First St. or Travis Ave. have been taken down for construction of new bank building facilities.

The Schiller 7-11 Drive In grocery is enlarging its frontage by 14 feet for additional space and checkout.

And the Texan Cafe is getting a new raised overhang facade along the north and west sides of the building.

Construction work continues at Newton Memorial Hospital which anticipates completion of its three-wing expansion program later this summer.

Fund committees are developing plans for the St. Edward Hospital fund drive. Detailed plans for the hospital are being drawn by engineers and architects.

Additional work continues at the Gulf fertilizer facility which continues to remodel facilities once owned by Eastern Seed Co.

UR Questions, Answers

The following is paraphrase and condensation of questions and answers in the meeting provided by the Cameron Urban Renewal office:

Q Explain $158,000 figure.

A We cannot know definitely what the cost will be until the planning stage is completed. This is the estimated local share. There are also credits available.

Q What is an example of a credit?

A Anything the city, county, or state does that benefits the project area. We estimate $84,000 in credits to be deducted from the $158,000. The Government matches our funds three to one. The additional money will have to come from a bond issue. We are trying to keep this as low as possible. We have already received a $15,000 advance. If the project fails, we will not be out the $15,000. Every individual problem will be thoroughly considered. We want everybody to be happy with the program.

Q Will this involve renovation or relocation?

A Yes, both. One central block will be demolished, which will mean relocating 13 merchants. Each will be talked to individually and needs considered individually. Do not go ahead and move out. We cannot help anyone who moves out prior to passage of the program. Talk with Mr. Matula. If he does not have the answers to your questions, he knows where to get them. We must have two, preferably three, appraisers. We cannot go below the lowest or above the highest figure. We do not want any hardship worked on any individual.

Q What will replace the outgoing block?

A Possibly a little park or off-street parking. I don't know what the engineers or committee will recommend. Some other buildings may have to be purchased, repaired, and used for relocation. Mr. Green said several buildings looked better inside than outside.

Q What are some of the specifications?

A These will be set out when the engineering firm has completed its surveys.

Q Do you have any time limit set?

A We are working on a six months schedule for the planning stage and are now 1 1/2 months ahead of schedule.

Q What has been done to other towns of comparable size?

A There are Hearne, Brenham, Taylor, and Waco. In the beginning the people of Hearne were all upset. They are now in their third project and the people are all for it. Hearne was predominantly a residential project. They are in the process of doing the same thing for the business district as Cameron. This is their second project.

One town cannot compare with another. Each is different. Brenham is another city, which has been in such a program. We plan to lower street curbs, get proper sidewalks, and improve drainage.

Q How do you go about initiating a second project?

A No further referendum would be needed, but there would have to be a bond issue for each.

Joe Lewis of Waco, who has been working on the Waco project for 8 years, stated that in 1960 two percent of the land area paid 37 percent of the taxes. By 1963, the 37 percent had dropped to 21 percent, a loss of 16 percent of tax income. Every time a building is vacant, that tax structure decreases and it will have to come from something else. Whatever tax we pay will be increased when a decrease takes place downtown.

One mistake our committee made was in not getting enough women on the committee. Be sure side-walks are covered so people can walk out of heat, cold, and inclement weather. Have enough free parking that is close enough for shoppers.

Camp: The total cost will be $658,000. Our part is $158,000. The planning phase is estimated at $57,000. This amount would be an outright grant if the project does not pass. If we don't have the answers to any of your questions, See UR Questions Page 2

Board To Discuss Freedom Of Choice

Cameron School Board will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday in the superintendent's office, Ben Milam School. Also on the agenda will be hearing of recommendations for filling vacancies on the faculty. Supt. D. R. Dodson said there were five teaching vacancies.

By Vern Sanford
Texas needs to buy another quarter of a million acres of land for its wildlife program before prices get out of reach.
This word comes from the Parks and Wildlife Department.
Today the State of Texas already owns 148,000 acres of land, scattered around in various ecological areas. It is estimated that the 233,000 acres needed under the proposed program would cost approximately $23 million, to be paid for with $7 million in funds now on hand and the remainder from unappropriated Federal funds, which must be used within a two-year period.

Federal funds are a part of the excise tax on hunting and fishing equipment, which reverts to Texas and other states each year.

This proposed purchase is for wildlife only. It does not include the more than 100,000 acres needed for park and recreation development within the state.

Funds for the wildlife purchase come from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses.

Park funds come from the general revenue, use fees and concessions.

Since problem is growing. A half-century ago, with only 4 million population, wildlife had been greatly reduced in the state because of over-kills, illegal slaughter and lack of game management.

Today Texas has nearly 12 million population, but more deer and turkey than any other state. Deer are so plentiful in many areas, the bag limit is three. This liberal bag has been set to improve the year city. We have received an advance of $15,000 deposited in the two banks and we have been in this project for 1 1/2 months.

The $15,000 is part of a $57,000 plus planning grant from HUD for the up to six months planning phase. Estimated local cost, for actual work, McCullin said, is $159,000, of which an estimated $94,000 at present will be in credits from public works already completed within the planning area or within a quarter mile of its boundaries.

The recounted completion of aerial survey, structural (still underway) and boundary surveys, a rehabilitation code. Structural surveys will be complete July 1. Renewal representatives have talked with utility companies and insurance specialists. And "we have studied the feasibility of connecting waterlines," he said.

"Urban renewal can do a lot for Cameron. Most of all, it would give us a new pride in our city. It will cost some money, time, and hard work. Our town didn't get this way in a day. To us, this is the best and only program for our town at this time," he said.

Green, the Bernard Johnson engineer, employed by the city for the engineering work, praised the Cameron urban renewal board as "one of the finest committees with which I have worked in 10 years."

He showed maps and a chart progress on various sub-stages of the planning phase. He said four items are ahead of schedule and the planning period, begun May 1, is scheduled for six months, which may be cut down to less than five.

"We are arriving at some definite conclusions. By and by the needs do come out. Downtown Cameron is quite sick," the engineer said.

Fuchs also introduced James D. Camp, an urban renewal board member who in turn introduced Black, of SBA.

He said there will be some businesses that will be displaced. For the good of all, these few individuals must suffer a little. We and local banks can help in this case. If there is economic injury, we (SBA) can, in some cases, make them a long-term loan at a cheaper rate of interest.

He said if it is an operating business, it will be up to each case to prove an economic injury. We also offer management assistance, if a person owns the building or has at least been operating in 50 percent of the building. If he is leasing and must move, SBA will make a loan, provided he can show ability to repay it. If he cannot find a place with a reasonable rent, SBA will finance construction of a new building for him. Each one will have a different building.

"Our man's next trip to Cameron will be July 10," he said, "who is Fred Leach."
McCullin reiterated: "This program will be administered by the local people here. We are open to questions any of you have."

Seated along the head table with the various specialists and McCullin, Camp and Fuchs were other board members Bill Burns, Albert Hajovsky, Porter Young and Miss Mildred Thornton. Cameron Urban Renewal executive director A. E. Matula and secretary Mrs. Roman Lehnert.

ratio and keep the deer herds in balance.

This year deer and turkey face serious depredation problems. One is a severe food problem. Today, most of the ranchers who charge a fee for hunting must feed the wildlife on their property.

Wildlife range has been continuously reduced. Texas reservoirs of more than 2,000 acres each have taken 650,000 acres of land that might otherwise have been wildlife habitat. Of course, these lakes provide fishing and other recreational features. It is estimated that the new lakes now under construction and planned before 1971 will cover another 1 million acres of land.

In addition, more than 5 million acres of brush land on the Rio Grande plains of South Texas have been lost by heavy brush control aimed at increasing livestock production.

Many thousands of acres of land in the South Plains and Texas Panhandle now are cotton and grain farms, with no cover at all for wildlife.

P & W department says that game management research studies on private lands are not possible. Suitable studies of big game require several years of uninterrupted work. During that time, privately owned land can change ownership, or even its stock management practices may be changed because of weather or market conditions.

Land now owned by the state, not only has been turned into an outdoors laboratory, it also has provided free hunting for control of surplus. There are several such areas.

In the Hill Country, for example, is the Kerr area. Here a management program has been in progress for something like 10 years. Here, as in many other areas of the state, one can see wildlife management first hand. It would be well for every hunter to visit the refuge in his area. He would give better support to wildlife management.

There is no doubt about it, the old Game and Fish Commission instituted a program that will last for years. But it must be augmented for the ever increasing population and growing number of hunters and fishermen.

Perhaps the plan now at hand will do just that.

Plan For Summer Meals In Winter

By Christine Law, HDA
A meal on a moment's notice; fresh corn in December; deer from last fall's hunt—all compliments of the home food freezer.

Freezing is one of the simplest, most popular methods of preserving foods at home. It retains the natural color, flavor, texture and food value of most fruits, vegetables, meats and baked goods. The quality of the food frozen can vary with freshness of product used, methods of preparation, packaging and conditions of freezing.

For successful freezing, select good - quality products. Freezing will not improve low grade food. Fruits and vegetables should be ready for table use.

Frozen meat, poultry, fish and eggs equal the fresh products in nutritive value. Retaining this value of fruits and vegetables depends largely on the treatment before freezing, storage temperature and method of cooking and serving. Handling the food promptly also retains quality.

Undesirable flavors and appearance can be caused by improper packaging. The selection of containers depends on the type of food and personal preference.

But all materials should be moisture - vapor proof to prevent evaporation and retain the highest quality in frozen foods.

The specialist recommends rigid containers of glass, aluminum or plastic; and sheet wrappings of moisture-vapor resistant plastic films, freezer aluminum foil, heavily waxed freezer paper and laminated papers.

But do not use ordinary waxed papers, household aluminum foil and cottage cheese or ice cream cartons.

All packages should be air tight. Freezer burn, a surface discoloration on meat and poultry, often results when meat or poultry dry inside the packaging.

Give special care to foods which may become rancid, a result of natural fats and oils being exposed to atmospheric oxygen. These foods include fish, shellfish, beef, pork, poultry, cherries, peaches, strawberries and asparagus.

Freeze fruits and vegetables at 0 degrees F. or below. Meat should be frozen in a commercial plant at -5 to -20 degrees F. for best results.

Since how rapidly heat can emerge from the product is more important than air temperature, space packages of unfrozen food at least one inch apart. Put no more unfrozen food into a freezer

Wash Pillows To Restore Softness

By Christine Laws

Pillows should be kept clean for sanitary reasons and to retain their comfortable softness. Almost all pillows can and should be washed once or twice a year.

Suds and water is the reliable formula, although the method varies according to the filling.

Most pillows actually have two coverings - an inner case of lightweight fabric, plus an outer ticking or decorative slipcover. First the non-washable "shell" must be removed.

Remove and wash ticking separately because this fabric is so closely woven that it keeps suds and water from circulating through the filling.

If a pillow has no lining, rip about a 2-inch opening in the ticking seam on opposite sides and fasten these openings with loose basting or overcasting stitches or pin with a large safety pin. Then suds and rinse water can flow through these vents, allowing dirt to escape but not the stuffing.

Feather, down, Avellan, Dacron and Orlon filled pillows can be laundered and dried by machine. To balance the washer load, wash two pillows at a time or add clean towels.

With feather filling, use extra soap or detergent because feathers cause the suds to die down quickly. Fillows tend to float on the surface of the water, so knead them in the water to get them wet before you start the washing cycle.

Rinse well, re-stitch the open vents, then dryer-dry at a low setting or hang them out on a breezy day. Shake and punch pillows several times during drying to plump up and fluff the filling.

Latex foam rubber pillows can be machine washed, using a 4-minute washing cycle with warm suds. Unless already covered, put the pillow in a mesh bag or a pillow case with its open end fastened by loose stitches. This will protect the foam from shredding or breaking during the machine action. Foam pillows may be left in an automatic washer during the spin cycle. Pillows filled with shredded foam rubber can be dried automatically at low heat.

If you wash pillows by hand use a deep tub or bathtub to allow plenty of room for suds and rinses. Use a squeezing motion to circulate suds through the millions of tiny spaces, and at least three rinses to remove all residue of soiled suds.

Polyurethane foam pillows are best washed by hand in warm soap or detergent suds. Don't twist or wring. Just compress each pillow with an up and down motion of your palms to create movement of suds.

These pillows can be safely tumble dried at any setting, or may be air dried after pressing out excess moisture between towels. Plastic foam dries slowly.

It will pay off in saved time and effort to cover each bed pillow with an inner case made of muslin. Then put a zipper on the outside ticking which can be laundered every month or so to wash away hair tonic, face cream, body oils, and ordinary soil which go through pillowcases.

If the living room couch is used for naps, keep some washable pillowcases handy to protect decorative throw pillows from preventable soil.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

IMPRACICAL JOKES

Good natured John, proprietor of a grocery store, kept a can of free tobacco on the counter. One day, just for kicks, he sprinkled a little gunpowder into the tobacco.

Sure enough, the first customer to use the mixture set off an explosion in his pipe. Result: injury to the customer's eyes and a successful damage suit against John.

It is well worth remembering, when you feel playful, that "I was only joking" is seldom a good defense in a court of law.

"One who plays dangerous practical jokes on others," observed one court, "takes the risk that his victims may not appreciate the humor."

Of course, if there is no reason to foresee harm, you are on safer ground. Thus, a prankster who wore an outlandish costume was held not responsible for the fright which his appearance caused in the woman next door.

But add enough cruelty or recklessness to your sense of humor and you may have to pay for costly consequences. For example, courts have imposed liability on:

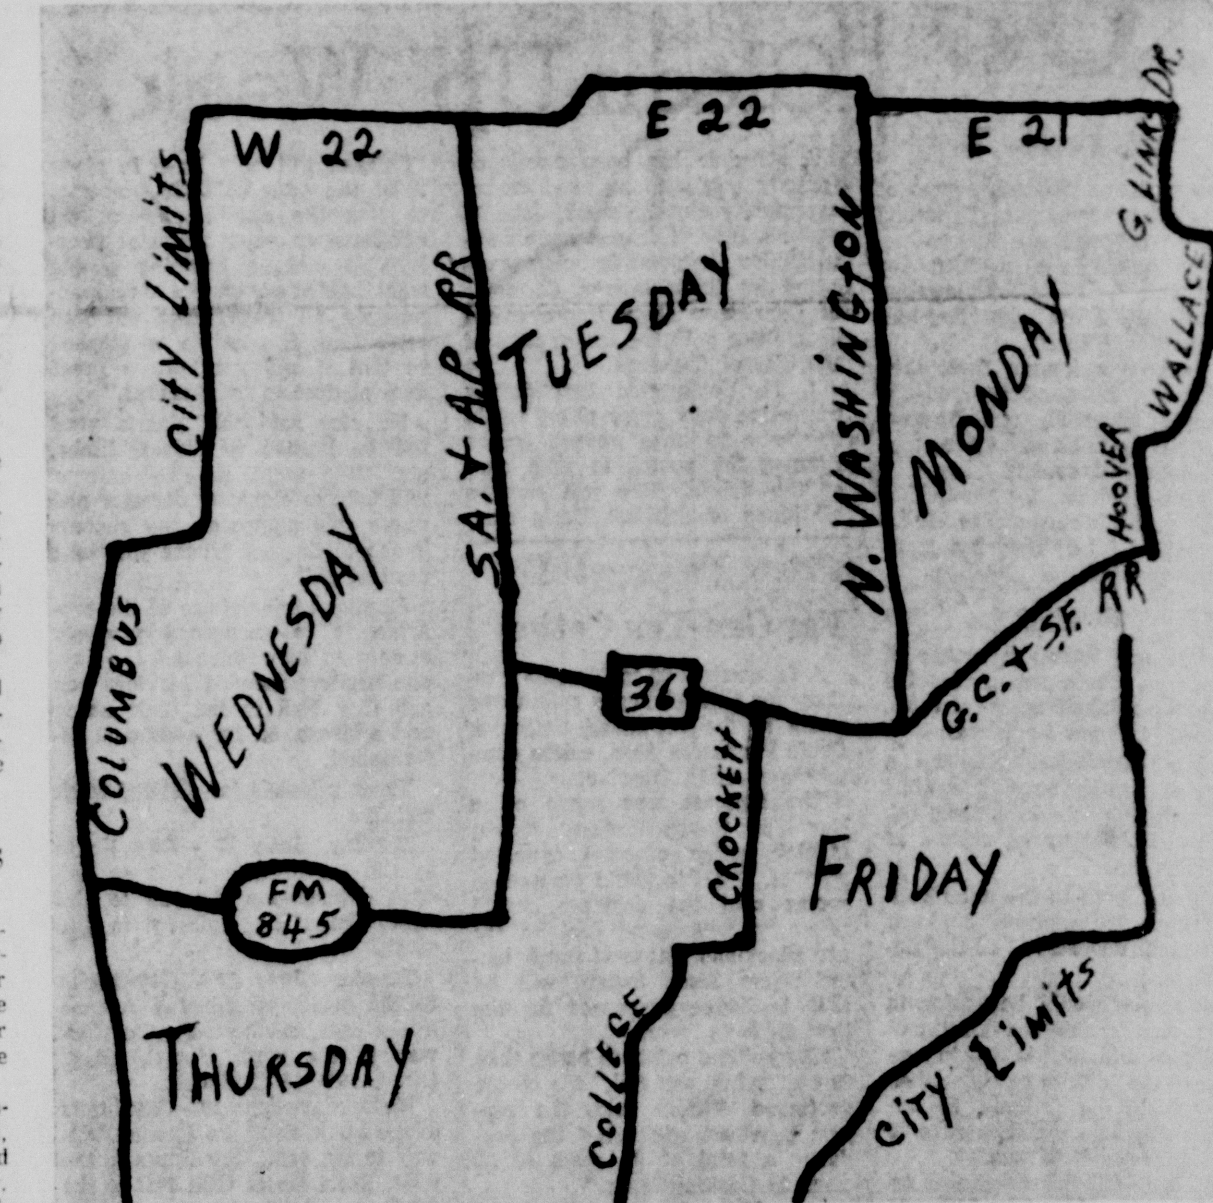

- 1) a joker who gave a hot foot to a man too drunk to realize that he was suffering a third degree burn;
- 2) a grocer who packed a dead rat into a bundle of groceries;
- 3) a wag who informed a woman, falsely but convincingly, that her husband had had both legs broken in a smashup;
- 4) a card player who, while bending down for some money, flipped a fellow player backwards out of his chair.

In fact, in addition to liability for damages, you might even face criminal charges.

A man had an old revolver containing a jammed cartridge. Con-

Sen. Watson Urges Nationwide Return To Law Enforcement

(Star) Senator Murray Watson from Waco articulates the desirability of the American people wondering: "Why so much violence?" Ed.)

By State Sen. Murray Watson

The tragic and senseless murder of Senator Robert Kennedy last week in Los Angeles gives each of us cause for serious contemplation and prayerful thought about the future. Are we to become a nation where violence, disorder and defiance of authority are accepted as parts of the fabric of our daily life? Are we to become a nation where assassination is considered as part of our political process and accepted as such? I believe we must either return to the old-fashioned belief that our laws must be enforced and obeyed or we will soon be on the road to anarchy.

The fatal shooting of Senator Kennedy by an assassin moments after he had received the cheers of victory in the California primary and his death a day later shocked the nation and pierced the national conscience. Across the land our leaders cried out for obedience of our laws. President Johnson, in a televised address to the nation, pleaded "Let us—God's sake—resolve to live under the law... Let us—in the aftermath of this tragedy—begin to find a way to reverence of life, to protect it, to extend its promise to all our people."

In the wake of this most recent act of violence, there is again doubt and uncertainty; there is again confusion and a sense of helplessness; there is again re-orientation against the nation and its people.

The attack upon Senator Kennedy cannot be regarded as an isolated incident, but rather as a horrible deed within the framework of our troubled violent and divisive times. The act has intensified a sense of outrage already mounting in the nation against urban rioting, arson and looting and increasing crime rate, and the spread of civil disobedience.

The nation, in its revulsion, is crying "enough." Tolerance of disorder, no matter whether in the name of student dissent or revenue for old wrongs or alienation from society, is fading.

The assassination of Senator Kennedy has brought about a heightened feeling of anti-militancy and anti-extremism in all forms, including defiant students, be they black or white, and hippies as well as black power advocates.

There is building up in the country a resentment against decisions, rendered by the Supreme Court which are eroding the very laws which have protected the nation and its people. Whether the shock and horror that permeated the country following the shooting and death of Senator Kennedy will mean an end to these 5-4 split decisions by our largest court remains to be seen.

The mood of Texas and the nation today demands an end to violence, disorder and defiance of our laws. It is too early to determine the desire of the special Legislative session as to whether it will request the governor to permit the Session to move into the field of strengthening its laws against rioting, arson and looting and civil disobedience. I would welcome such an opportunity.

Texas has been fortunate during its long and hot summers. We have not been plagued by the lawlessness that has invaded many of our nation's large cities. No doubt the elements that have caused the rioting, looting and arson in these cities exist in Texas. But I believe that our efforts to eliminate these causes and the relationship that exists among all of our people has minimized the chances of these acts of violence occurring in our towns and cities.

Put we must not be lulled into a sense of false security. We must continue our efforts to eliminate and erase the causes that breed civil disobedience, rioting, and other acts of violence. We must strengthen our laws and we must provide those who are charged with enforcing our laws with the tools to do so.

Put, in the words of the late Senator Kennedy, "...There are wrongs which need attention. There are people who are poor and who need help. And we have a responsibility to them and to this country..."

We must not — we will not — forsake those who cry for help and for justice. We must not — we will not — abandon our responsibilities. We must not — we will not — forsake the faith of our fathers.

Let us from this day forward, move toward a better life for all.

Terminal and county price support loan and purchase rates for the 1968 crop grain sorghum have been announced.

The rates are based on the previously announced national average loan rate of $1.61 per hundredweight, unchanged from the 1967 crop price. Total support including the loan rate and a price support payment of 53 cents per hundredweight averages $2.14 per hundredweight for the 1968 crop, the same as last year.

Though the national average loan rate is unchanged from the 1967 level, extensive changes in export rail freight rates throughout the major grain producing area require widespread changes in terminal and county loan rates.

The effect of these freight changes is to reduce terminal rates by four cents per hundredweight. In many counties of the State, the rates show some range up and down from the averages. However, most of the county rates will reflect the four cent per hundredweight decline in the terminal rates.

The rate schedule is for grain sorghum grading No. 2 or better, except mixed grain sorghum. The county loan rate reflects the terminal loan rate less the freight and handling charges needed to get grain sorghum to terminal markets. Rates will be adjusted by discounts for class, grade and quality to determine rates for individual producers. The discount schedule is unchanged from that in effect for the 1967 program.

The Milam County loan rate is $1.77 for the 1968 crop year.

Keep It Beautiful

If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter.

But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.

It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember: Every Litter Bit Hurts. This is our land. Let's treat it right.

The Clansman . . .

John Kennedy's shadow is lengthened. Another, alone, lives in the legacy of the clan.

America loves an underdog and Robert Kennedy somehow maintained that appeal until an assassin's insanity, perhaps momentary, purged the New York Senator of a chance for survival and further quest for the White House.

Robert Kennedy was a genius of charisma, of spectacular energy and commitment. Some Europeans, before any time of eulogy, thought he would have been a better chief of state than the assassinated President. Some foresaw his election.

Tough mindedness, it was said, is an essential of leadership.

Tough mindedness, perhaps better said as singleness of purpose, sent Robert Kennedy, singularly undismayed, into the controversies of Senator Joe McCarthy, teamster boss Jimmy Hoffa, civil rights, university integration, New York senatorial election, anti-war Vietnam dialogue, these among others. It is difficult to tell where these cards meld ruthlessness with reform.

An essential of Kennedy leadership is met once again -- Irish wit and pith struck down amidst admiring crowds -- singularly tragic, charismatically awe inspiring.

No one forgets the Robert Kennedy of 1960, who cajoled, perhaps coerced, but thoroughly coaxed John's aspiration into nomination. Their force, precise planning and abundant financing turned Democratic stalwarts, and later, the nation to a "new frontier."

John Kennedy and a galaxy of talent, intellect and sophistication dazzled Washington and the world. Robert was there, beside his brother, and mourned his brother's death more than most any other.

Many ironies are drawn in Robert Kennedy's death: his saving of a son from a Pacific undertow the day he was mortally wounded, his crucial triumph before he was felled in the City of Angels, his sense of tragedy in remarks said minutes before shots cracked.

Perhaps greater irony than these is in the eulogy given by Ted Kennedy, bearer of such grand legacy, over his brother's bier in the New York cathedral:

"My brother need not be idealized or enlarged in death beyond what he was in life, but he should be remembered simply as a good and decent man, who saw wrong and tried to right it, saw suffering and tried to heal it, saw war and tried to stop it."

How is it that Robert Kennedy, for all his courage and charm, a mixture of Irish - Americana, "be remembered simply as a good and decent man?"

Neither Robert nor John nor Ted, nor their family -- rich in glorious ambition and dispossessed in numb grief -- lives or dies in intrinsic goodness alone.

The Kennedy clan -- the legend of a President and Senator, the legacy of yet another Senator -- is the stuff of dream or nightmare.

This country is less for losing Robert Kennedy, yet it may have recreated his election. He jousts no windmills; no Don Quixote was he. He drove for the heart of humanity in its behalf. He believed passionately in causes. What else would have driven him so?

The cast of his shadow joins a fallen President's. They are one once again.

What Others Say . . .

While France Slept . . .

Charles de Gaulle may use time and concessions to ride out the revolution in France. Such sudden storms can abate as well as grow. But he and France, and the Western world, have learned a lesson that will last.

Neither economic affluence, nor educational prestige, nor assertions of national grandeur can insulate even the most highly civilized society against political convulsion if discontents are ignored . . .

Degaule had brought pride and prosperity to France. Suddenly he had to deal with the results of that. The people wanted more. All of his posturing in foreign affairs brought him no immunity from discontent at home. The passivity his rule had induced burst into vitality and opposition. Gaullist France will not be the same again.

Since anything can happen, it would be foolhardy to say it can't happen in America. But it would be equally absurd to equate contemporary American society with France, or American institutions with the French. Political debate and ferment, for instance, certainly have not been stilled under Lyndon Johnson as they have been under de Gaulle; on the contrary, Johnson has been the most sorely beset president since Herbert Hoover. Nor are American labor union members, often prosperous to the point of fighting social change, likely to rush with red flags to the campus of Columbia to extol Che and Mao alongside the young beards.

But impulses are at work here and everywhere, as the news from Resurrection City to Prague makes clear. Boredom with affluence, impatience with old assumptions, irreverence for established leaders—all these factors play their part. The United States, with its impoverished economic class and its excluded Negro race, has one of the more volatile situations on its hands.

The lesson emerging from the French confusion, as it is emerging from the anti-Stalinist turmoil in Czechoslovakia and from the ghettos of American cities, is that no nation, no society and no system can afford to fall asleep at the switch, ever, and drift into belief that changes aren't needed. The vitality of involvement, participation and movement are deep needs of all men. And men, even Frenchmen, can be deceptively passive until some impulse ignites the latent discontents where safety valves have rusted.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

I was holding a copy of a newspaper in front of me. I don't remember now where I got it, it's not important, but I was suddenly tired of reading the news.

I don't know why, it was just I guess that it was averaging two crises to every inside page and twelve on the front, just as the last one I found did and like the next one will too. I don't know whether the world has more crises now than it used to or whether requiring that long an answer, and nonetheless I was tired of reading about them and started reading the ads.

I'm not sure it helped. There was this one ad promoting some electronic computer, an item I'm not in the market for, I don't need one. I never think up a problem its slogan was: "Machines Should Work, People Should Think."

It has long been my contention that the slogan is right, that unless a machine throws me out of work I'm not interested in it, but I have begun to have my doubts.

Maybe we've got it backwards. Maybe machines should think and people should work. You other people, anyway. Me and the college students have got only things to do.

I don't know that machines could do a better job of thinking, but it's hard to see how they could do any worse.

You take a world where the more civilized we get the less secure we are, and you begin to wonder. At least with machines in control they could be blamed instead of us.

I can see the militant fringe of college students now saying, "We have got to overhaul the machines from top to bottom. They're sick. They're using the same cogs, the same gears, the same old principles, producing the same type of air-conditioning at the same monotonous temperature we've lived in for years. In fact, the principle of the internal combustion engine itself is rotten to the core, and that goes for electric motors and windmills too, and jets are even worse. What the world needs is more monkey wrenches."

Understand though I'm not trying to offend college students. I don't want any of them invading my office out here on this Johnson grass farm. Although if they do and I'm not here, I wish they'd leave a notice on the door saying they've wrecked the place. Otherwise I'd never know they'd been here. My office, I have to report, under the standards of the Federal Government, with its tin roof, plain concrete floor, littered roll-top desk cardboard boxes for file cabinets, and homemade fireplace, is considered sub-standard.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Tax Bills Loom Ahead As State Faces Shortage

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN
Sitting in special session to approve appropriations and tax bills for the fiscal year beginning September 1, the House and Senate began deliberations on how to distribute some $2,500,000,000 in appropriations.

When that little problem is taken care of, the Legislature will worry about one that's potentially more disastrous, politically. Raising taxes or passing new ones comes next. They must raise the $125-130 million difference between what the state will have and what it will need.

Gov. John Connally's special session opened on schedule June 4 in a storybook setting: The newly-elected Democratic nominee for governor, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, presided over the Senate, and the newly-elected Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, Speaker Ben Barnes, held the House controls.

Gov. Connally spelled out basically this tax program:

—A one percent raise in the state sales tax rate to three percent with the bulk of the increase going to cities. Sales tax base would be extended to cover cigarettes, other tobacco products, and such services as haircuts and beauty treatments, laundry and dry cleaning, repairs, telephone and telegraph, and auto parking ($76,800,000).

—A 13,200,000 cut in taxes on the gross receipts of telephone companies was incorporated in his recommendations, same being more than offset by the inclusion of telephone service in the three percent sales tax.

—A boost in the auto sales tax rate to three percent ($30,600,000).

—Legalization of liquor by the drink in small bottles, with each bottle individually taxed, and private clubs assessed a 10 percent gross receipts tax ($14,500,000).

—Transfer of $7,500,000 from the operators and chauffeurs license fund to the general fund spending pocket.

—A realty transfer stamp tax ($1,000,000).

Initial reaction to the $127,200,000 package was generally cool or downright unfriendly, although many legislators were plainly waiting to see what the folks back home thought of it. Outlook was dimmest of all for the mini-bottle bill. Even many liquor by the drink advocates didn't like it, but they admitted that from their standpoint it was "better than nothing." Hearings on it were started this week by committees of both the House and the Senate.

House revenue and tax committee is considering Connally's omnibus tax bill. Speaker Barnes, who is not committed to the Connally proposals, apparently will put them to a floor vote in the House next week unless something better is substituted.

Barnes warned that $150 million in new revenue may be needed if a federal income tax surcharge is passed by Congress, slashing state purchasing power and thereby cutting the state's sales tax take.

After all tax items are taken care of, Connally has promised to open the legislative hopper to such other issues as the lawmakers desire -- if there's time left in the 30-day special session.

LIQUOR LAW REVISION

Core of the Legislature's revision of the Liquor Control Act probably will be the recommendations of the liquor law revision subcommittee of the House State Affairs Committee. Speaker Barnes turned the problem over to the subcommittee during the LCB controversy.

Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, chairman of the subcommittee and the full committee, reported to the committee on the first day of the session, and the reaction indicated that one major problem could be whether to allow possession of alcoholic beverages and private clubs in dry areas.

Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio, a supporter of liquor by the drink, asked the committee to reject the subcommittee's report because it did not include those prohibitions, which he thinks would provide incentive for liquor by the drink.

Cory, however, closed the meeting before Johnson could get the record vote he sought.

Committee report included 31 points, many of them recommendations to change the law.

Main recommendations included prohibiting legislators from practicing before the LCB; opening all LCB records on violations and complaints to the public; a minimum of 50 members for a private club; a fine for parents whose children are convicted on liquor violations twice; immediate sale of confiscated liquor; increasing license and permit fees; increasing LCB agent salaries; and providing graduated penalties for repeated liquor violations.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED

Gov. Connally named and the Senate confirmed Calvin Wesch of Kermit as 109th district attorney for Andrews, Winkler, and Crane Counties. He succeeds the late Don Nugent.

Governor also appointed Judge Thomas A. Curtis as district attorney at Amarillo for Armstrong and Potter Counties.

He designated Jerry L. Brownlee of Fort Worth and Publisher Gordon Fulcher of Atlanta to the Texas Water Quality Board.

Dr. L. Harland Ford, executive director of the Region XIX Education Service at El Paso, was named assistant commissioner of the Texas Education Agency for teacher education and instructional services, effective August 1.

Senate confirmed Connally's selection of San Antonio attorney Roy Barrera as Secretary of State. Barrera has been serving since March.

C. M. (Hank) Hudspeeth of Denton is now vice president of the State Bar of Texas. He will take office July 7.

NEW LIFE ON DEATH ROW

The 36 men on death row in Huntsville, and others around the state, now have a new chance at life.

US Supreme Court has ruled that the death penalty cannot be imposed by a jury from which persons opposed to capital punishment have been excluded. Under the Texas system a potential juror may be excused if he states that he is opposed to the death sentence in a capital crime. Under this new ruling, however, such persons can't be excluded, and according to State Attorney General Crawford Martin, "it will probably do away with the death penalty." A jury must unanimously agree on capital punishment in a case for it to be imposed.

"I Saw Wrinkles Vanish or Diminish in 2 Weeks"

NEW YORK (Special):—"Disappearance of small wrinkles was accomplished . . . even the very deepest wrinkles showed very great improvement." This dramatic report on the ingredients in Genava was made by a noted physician, specializing in dermatology, after tests made on a selected group of women. He saw these results with his own eyes.

With this substance new to cosmetics, named Genava, aging skin can start looking younger and younger -- not older and older.

The physician also commented, "The small superficial wrinkles responded dramatically." And he adds that the skin was "more translucent and smoother in appearance."

These results are nothing short of amazing. And it took a new cosmetic compound to do it.

Developed by the trustworthy Nina laboratory, Genava is designed to be used under make-up and as a night cream. It is absorbed instantly. In two weeks time wrinkles will vanish or diminish greatly. That is the promise now made possible by Genava. Skin will become more translucent, younger-looking. Now available in selected stores—1.65 oz. $3.50; 4 oz. $5.00.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William Kubes of Cameron, and Mr. and Mrs. Delma Spell of Austin. The bride is a graduate of Yoe High School and was employed as a secretary with the State Board of Insurance in Austin. The bridegroom is a graduate of William B. Travis High School in Austin, and a graduate of the University of Texas with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering. He is employed with Alcoa in Rockdale.

Mrs. Carroll W. Glaser of Rockdale registered guests at the wedding. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of hand clipped Chantilly lace and nylon over tulle. The bouquet of tulle ruffles was fashioned with side apron effects of lace, extending from the fitted lace bodice. Her fingertip veil of French illusion drifted from a crown of lace and seed pearls.

The bride's attendants wore deep pink, full length, empire gowns which featured scalloped necklines and bell sleeves. Matron of honor was Mrs. Tommy Spell, and maid of honor was Miss Peggy Ann Kubes, sister of the bride. Miss Patti Leskar of Baton Rouge, La., was bridesmaid; and sister of the bride, Cathy Jean Kubes, was junior bridesmaid. Headpieces of matching flat bows with halos of tulle were worn by each attendant. They carried a single, long stemmed pink rose.

Tommy Spell, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Jon Herron, Kenneth Spell, and Roy Sedwick were groomsmen. Ring-bearer was David Spell, nephew of the bridegroom. Ushers were Dickie Barber and Richard Morgan, all of Austin.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church. House party members included Miss Lynn Ashmore, Miss Sharon Thomas, and Miss Sherri Del Spell, sister of the bridegroom.

The couple will live at 950 Vance, Apt. 201, Taylor.

MRS. MELVIN RIVERS
MISS JANE WIED, MELVIN RIVERS MARRIED AT ST. MONICA'S CHURCH

Miss Jane Wied, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wied, and Mr. Melvin Rivers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Rivers, were married Saturday evening at St. Monica's Church.

Rev. John Geiser officiated and wedding music was presented by Mrs. T. D. Corley and Mrs. Hilgard Thomas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown with empire waist and tiered train. Her tiered veil of illusion was held by a silk organza crown. She carried a bouquet of daisies and rosebuds with ivy.

Miss Linda Laywell was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Lynette Green, Miss Kathy Senkel, a cousin of the bride from San Antonio, and Miss Edwina Davis of Corsicana.

The bride's attendants wore floor length dresses of aqua silk organza over silk, designed with scattered appliqued daisies. They carried bouquets of daisies with ivy.

Don Rivers of Dallas served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Eugene Roberts of Dallas, cousin of the groom, Martin Jistel and Larry Thweatt. Ushers were Jimmy Hartnett of Galveston and Jimmy Rivers.

The bride's mother chose an Alaskan silk dress in hot pink and wore a corsage of roses. The groom's mother wore pale pink silk and a rose corsage.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride's table, on the patio, was covered with white net over satin and trimmed with lily of the valley. A silver candelabra with white candles, entwined with daisies and ivy, centered the table. The four-tiered cake was decorated with aqua roses and white bells.

FHA To Tackle Population Flow From Rural USA

How to check the flow of rural people into urban centers will be discussed at a regional meeting of the Farmers Home Administration, to be held June 25-26 in St. Louis, L. J. Cappelman, Texas State Director for the agency said today.

Texas officials attending the meeting will include Cappelman, John O. Barnes, Assistant State Director; L. D. Smith, Rural Development Specialist; Arnold H. Paul, Executive Officer; J. C. Hayes, Assistant to State Director - Farm Management; J. D. McKenzie, Chief, Operating Loans, and W. E. Lawson, Chief, Community Services.

Agency leaders representing 18 states will attend.

Cappelman said that the Farmers Home Administration will loan about $1.3 billion during the coming year to create jobs in rural America, improve rural housing, strengthen family farms, develop needed rural community facilities.

"The main drive in all FHA programs is to strengthen the economy of rural America, to make it a place that will attract rather than repel people," Cappelman said.

He estimated that 4 million people would benefit from the services of the FHA in fiscal 1969.

The FHA through 1,600 county offices located in rural areas in all states provides development credit accompanied by management aid. Funds advanced by the agency are used to help low-income rural families obtain needed resources and raise their incomes, and to help disadvantaged rural communities obtain modern community facilities.

Town Country DAYS

County Agent's Notes ...

Insect Control In Fields, Lawn

By J. D. Moore

Fleahoppers continue to be the major pest in Milam cotton fields for the second week, even though some fields were poisoned last week. Fields treated for fleas May 21 were re-infested again by June 6 by migrating adult fleas.

This situation is normal since adult fleas leave their host plants growing in pastures along fence rows and other uncultivated areas as these plants reach maturity. The adult fleas deposit their eggs in the freshly growing terminal cotton plants. The eggs hatch into nymph fleas that have no wings until they are near adults. The nymphs feed on cotton terminals and such juices from the tiny developing squares, resulting in a weedy-like cotton plant with late fruiting.

A two to three percent bollworm infestation was found in two fields checked by the county agents June 7. A Strolane - Methyl Parathion or Azodrin - Methyl Parathion mixture will decrease the worm population and control the fleas as well as the overwintered boll weevils.

HOME LAWNS

Those families with St. Augustine grass lawns are advised to check for chinch bugs. These insects spend the winter as adults and come out in the spring to start a new generation. The county agent and Terry Hardwick, local spray applicator found this new generation in the county agent's lawn June 4. Two applications of Diazinon spray appear to have the insects under control.

Entomologists' research work shows that two applications of 14 percent Diazinon granules at the rate of 7 pounds per 1,000 square feet will control chinch bugs in St. Augustine grass successfully.

McGREGOR FARM SHOWING NEW AREA PASTURE GRASS

A new pasturegrass that is expected to be a boon to Central Texas cattlemen will be shown here this month.

McGREGOR

Date of the showing is June 20, during an event that is held annually at the Livestock and Forage Research Center, the Grass, Soils, and Crops Field Day.

The 6,300-acre installation is a unit in the College of Agriculture at Texas A&M University.

And, the new grass is TAM Wintergreen, a variety of Harding which has been under development at the center since 1954. (TAM: initial letters of Texas A&M. Official approval of the name and of releasing the seed to growers is pending.)

The June 20 program will begin at 8:30 a.m., with guided tours to show the progress of current research in many areas for the benefit of Texas agriculture.

Lunch will be boxed fried chicken, dutch-treat.

The afternoon session will be in the air-conditioned headquarters, with brief talks by several agricultural scientists and a veteran cotton buyer. The day ends at 2:30 p.m.

Among the speakers will be W. D. Hunter of Waco, who will tell the guests that there is still a favorable place in the foreign markets for cotton produced in the Texas Blacklands. He will base his remarks on 40 years of experience as a buyer and exporter of area cotton.

Other speakers:

—Dr. Gordon W. McLean, soil scientist at the center, who will discuss the use of phosphorus as fertilizer in the Blacklands.

—Dr. Carl Gray, soil chemist with the Texas A&M Agricultural Extension Service, who will discuss the interpretation of soil tests.

—M. J. Norris, agronomist at the center, whose topic will embrace new pasturegrasses for Central Texas.

—Dr. George A. Niles, agronomist with the Texas A&M Agricultural Experiment Station, who will report on the continuing development of cotton breeding material for the Blacklands.

Master of ceremonies will be Dr. J. Neal Pratt, Extension agronomist, and the guests will be welcomed by the superintendent of the center, Henry O. Hill.

Mrs. J. A. Ely Jr. and Mrs. Alfred Coats and children spent Sunday in Houston.

HD Agent's Notes Auction Report—

Frozen fruits and vegetables spice year round menus with garden fresh flavor. But the nutritive value and quality of these fruits and vegetables depend largely on the treatment before freezing, storage temperature and method of cooking and serving.

Most fruit can be frozen satisfactorily.

Select sound, ripe fruit which is slightly ripener than for canning but not soft or mushy. Tree or vine ripened fruits contain more vitamins and a richer flavor than fruits picked green and allowed to ripen before freezing.

In general, fruit is prepared for freezing as for eating. Keep fruit cool until it is frozen. Wash it in cold water but do not allow it to stand in the water. Some fruit loses food value and flavor and some gets water soaked.

Some fruits, such as peaches, apricots, apples and pears, discolor easily. To prevent this follow this idea:

Ascorbic acid (vitamin C) is available in tablet, crystalline or powdered form. Use ½ teaspoon of this per quart of syrup to prevent discoloration.

If you don't want to pack the fruit in syrup, sprinkle dissolved ascorbic acid over fruit just before adding sugar. Use ½ teaspoon in ½ cup cold water to each quart of fruit.

Some special commercial anti-darkening preparations are on the market and can be found at drug stores or where freezing supplies are sold.

FREEZING VEGETABLES

Getting vegetables from the garden to the freezer quickly is a must for top quality frozen vegetables. During hot weather, harvest vegetables in the early morning before they absorb much heat. Vegetables at optimum maturity will have best flavor and texture. If you must store vegetables before freezing, spread them out loosely in a cool, well ventilated place or pack loosely in the refrigerator.

Prepare vegetables for freezing similar to cooking them. Wash in cold water, drain and sort, peel trim and cut. Blanch the vegetable in boiling water, the time varying with the vegetable. This kills enzyme action in the product. The enzymes help the plants grow and mature but if not deactivated the vegetables will develop off-flavors and often discolor or toughen during freezing.

Place the scalded vegetables immediately into running cold water or ice water. When the product is cool to the tongue when tested, it is cool enough to pack.

After the vegetables have been heated, cooled and drained, pack in airtight moisture-vapor-proof containers, leaving ½ inch headspace. Seal according to type of container you use.

Cook all vegetables in the frozen state, except corn on the cob, which should be partially defrosted. Cook them only until tender in a small amount of water.

PARKS & WILDLIFE TOPS

CHEVY PICKUPS HAVE MORE INNER STRENGTH!

In fact, only Chevrolet gives you all these tough truck components and features!

ROAD-BALANCED RIDE—Husky coil springs at all four wheels soak up bumps, assure a smooth ride for people and cargo. Standard on ½-ton and ¾-ton models, all-round coil springs team perfectly with Chevy's famed independent front suspension.

LADDER-TYPE FRAME—The same type used on the biggest Chevy haulers. Heavy-gauge channel side rails are riveted to alligator jaw crossmembers. The result is an extra-strong chassis foundation that withstands tough usage.

DOUBLE-WALL CARGO BOX—Fleetside pickups have double-wall side panels and tailgate to protect exterior sheet metal from damage caused by shifting loads. You wind up with a pickup that stays new looking longer.

DURABLE CAB CONSTRUCTION—Added strength comes from double-wall construction in roof, cowl, door pillars and sills. Special insulation keeps out heat, cold and noise.

FRONT FENDER LINERS—Major deterrent to rust and corrosion. Smooth contoured design prevents mud build-up. Guards exterior sheet metal from corrosive road splash.

EXTRA WORKPOWER—Six hefty engines provide a wide range of power choices. Two Sixes and four V8's are available. All run on regular gasoline for exceptional operating economy.

God's Word Says Come

ONLY THE BEGINNING

For all those who truly seek wisdom this is "Only The Beginning" time. It's time for rewards but also time for setting the sails to cope with the high winds ahead. Commencement to serious minds can be little less than frightening. Have these young people learned well to do their duty? Are they qualified to accept prosperity? Are they fortified for adversity? Have they learned about God? If they have not learned these things well, then they have learned but little. Opportunities are in abundance for those who are determined. Commencement is only the first round on a ladder that reaches to the stars for all who will but apply themselves. Then, young graduates, be of great faith and unlimited perseverance. For He said you have only "to seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you."

and open the doors with a trusted 95-year reputation the very first day? Now you can! Here's a unique opportunity for you to become your own boss in a bold new business . . . a business that offers virtually risk free income, from a remarkably small capital investment of only $3500 in operating capital.

Montgomery Ward is looking for Sales Agents. If you're a stable, ambitious man . . . or a husband-wife team, with an urge to break out on your own in a catalog store, we're looking for you.

We've developed a unique program requiring a very small initial investment in which all the agent im-plus a portion of the expenses and his ability and strong desire to sell!

We make available everything from store fixtures and display material to free management training and a plenty of encouragement. We want you to succeed.
You'll retain a favorable percentage of the profits, so the size of your earnings is determined by your ability to run an efficient business.

If you're interested, we're interested in you!
